

BILL TO KNOCK OUT OFFERED BY SENATE

WOULD REPEAL SECTION PROVIDING FOR LICENSE

FILIBUSTER OPENS IN SENATE

When Reconsideration of Vote to Create New County of Barrow Comes Up

A bill to eliminate all locker clubs in Alaska was introduced Tuesday in the senate by Senator W. D. McNell, of the Twenty-second District. It introduces Measure at Session Tuesday Morning.

This bill provides that section 533 of the Alaska Code, which provides for the licensing of locker clubs by payment of a fee of $100, shall be repealed. After this is passed, and the licensees of all clubs are closed, no more licenses shall be issued according to the terms of the present law.

Under this law, said Senator McNell Tuesday session, "it will be possible for men to have liquor in their homes, but not in their locker clubs, just as in their homes, but not in their locker clubs."

The measure that all of the present locker clubs will be abolished throughout the state of Alaska, where liquor is sold to members, will be abolished.

A one-man filibuster was carried on for about a half hour by Senator McNell Tuesday session, after which he withdrew the bill.

Senator McNell said that the bill was introduced for the purpose of repealing the law which provides for the licensing of locker clubs by payment of a fee of $100, and that he had no objection to its passage.

C. B. Parker Denied A Fifth Trial In Tedder Girl Case

Judge Bell Denies Motion of DeKalb Farmer Indicted in 1909

Judge Bell Tuesday denied a motion for a new trial in the case of C. B. Parker, a prominent farmer of DeKalb county, who has been three times convicted of charges brought by Miss Flora Tedder, daughter of W. V. Tedder, another well known DeKalb county citizen. Attorneys for Parker gave notice of an appeal.

Parker was indicted in 1909 and has been tried on the indictment four times. The first two and the last time, he was acquitted, while the third trial resulted in a mistrial. If the motion heard by Judge Bell Tuesday had been granted, the case would have gone to a jury for the third time within a year.

Since the motion was denied, however, the fight will have to be taken up in a higher court if it is renewed.

There were thirteen counts in the motion for a new trial, which was filed by Attorneys John C. McClelland and W. M. Shreve. Of these, two were most unusual and important.

On one count Parker asks a new trial because he offered to marry Miss Tedder just before his last trial, and his attorney was rejected by the jury. The second count is that he was indicted for a crime which he had not committed.

MEMORANDUM ON THE FIGHT BREAKS IN HOUSE

Issue Raised in Effort to Put Through Rule Requiring Committees to Report Promptly on All Bills

RULE FAILED TO GET THREE-FOURTHS VOTE

It Got Majority, but Under the Rules It Required Three-Fourths to Pass. Bills Introduced

The Georgia house of representatives Tuesday morning had its first sharp fight of the 1911 session on a resolution by Representative Beck, of Carroll county, to require all standing committees to report within six days on all bills introduced. The resolution was reported by the rules committee.

The report of the committee was discussed in the resolution, then placed before the house, failed of passage under a ruling by Speaker Burwell that the resolution was not in order.

NO RELIEF FROM HEAT HARDWICK REITERATES

IN SIGHT, SAYS OBSERVER

Mercury Hits 97 at 1 o'clock

Tuesday, but Clouds Check Rise of Temperature

Although the forecaster says Wednesday will be slightly cooler, he declares there is no relief in sight from the hot weather. The mercury recorded as high as 97 degrees Tuesday at 1 o'clock, and the chances are that it will go a degree or two higher during the day.

It will not reach 100, however, according to officials at the weather bureau, though the usually high temperatures of the early morning for while indicated record breaking heat.

As was pointed out when indications early in the day seemed to point to another record breaking run of the mercury upward, a number of things made a continuance of the remarkable rise in temperature impossible.

For a goodly portion of the forenoon, the sun was hidden by clouds, and the temperature was held in check.

But even if a new record for maximum temperature is not established Tuesday has very probably set a record which will not be equaled again soon.

Between 5 and 8 o'clock in the morning the mercury rose an even 10 degrees bounding in the short three hours from 72 to 82.

Mr. Hermann, of the local weather bureau, has given out some interesting figures for the month of June in Atlanta during 1914.

The figures show that the average temperature for the month is 72 degrees, which is a full 10 degrees below what it has a right to expect.

Under the conditions of the resolution to pass, Speaker Burwell's ruling, the house failed to pass the resolution.

Dictator Said to Have Sent Children to Coast and Prepares to Follow on Short Notice

CARRANZA'S AUTHORITY IS DEFIED BY ZAPATA

Peace Conference Will Recess Tomorrow Until Rebel and Federal Agents Confer on Internal Problems

(By Associated Press.)

MEXICO CITY, June 30.—(News received from Mexico City today that President Zapata, the southern revolutionary leader, has published a statement rejecting any allegiance to Venustiano Carranza and saying the constitutionalist chief had refused to accept the status of a general in the Carranza army.

Zapata is said to have declared he intends to extend his operations to the western coast of Mexico as far as Sonora, where he will fight Carranza "forever."

The information was brought to Mexico City by persons who arrived from towns under the control of the Carranza army, the statement declared.

Roberto Esteva-Ruiz, acting foreign minister, today issued a statement bearing on the statement of the Mexican delegates to the Niagara Falls conference, which had been held in the city of Mexico.

BOY DROWNS AS COMRADE STRUGGLES TO SAVE HIM

Troy Ellis Sinks to Bottom at Lakewood Despite Heroic
Efforts of Tentmate

While swimming across the north end of the lake at Lakewood Monday afternoon, Troy Ellis, twenty-one years old, 12 Cherry street, was drowned in a heroic effort to save his tentmate, Doherty, who lives at 441 Whitehall street, narrowly escaped the same death, he sank twice, with Ellis clasping him in a death grip.

Ellis, a student at a business college, and Doherty, who works with the Mark Shabers Truck company, were camping together at Lakewood.

Ellis, according to his family, was not strong, and had recently been ill. He had tried him on the construction of a life preserver from his tent when he and Doherty jumped into the water to save across the lake to where Doherty was when a young man was waiting with a life preserver on the opposite bank.

Doherty, who was highly praised for his brave attempt at rescue, said that Ellis had formerly swum the distance across the lake, but when they were forty feet from shore Doherty said Ellis' strength failed.

Doherty turned quickly and went to the aid of his friend. He constructed a life preserver from his tent when he and Doherty jumped into the water to save across the lake to where Doherty was when a young man was waiting with a life preserver on the opposite bank.

"I had gone about ten feet when Ellis jumped out of the water, seized me, and with my arms around his neck, we sank again, clear to the bottom," said Doherty. "I kicked and struggled, and managed to get free. We were near the top. We were nearing the bank, and I pushed him back out of the water, but he did not rise. He was nearly exhausted, my lungs filled with water, but I tried to place Ellis' hand on the plank. He went under the water before I could get him out."

Doherty was heart-broken over the death of his friend. He himself had to be helped out of the water by a life preserver who arrived within a few minutes.

The body was recovered at 4:45 o'clock Monday by County Policeman Frank Gordon and Herman Hill.

The body was removed to Harry G. Poles' undertaking establishment, from which it will be sent early this morning to Covington, the Ellis' old home, where the funeral will take place at 10 o'clock at the Liberty church, near Covington.

Mr. Ellis is survived by three sisters, Mrs. E. P. Brock, 22 Cherry street, and those home he lived: Mrs. S. S. Miers, 1500 Peachtree street, and Miss Hill, 1500 Peachtree street.

Mr. Hamilton, Jr., a young real estate man, who was also tenting with Ellis and Doherty, was taken to his home at his office Monday afternoon when his comrade was drowned.

ATLANTA SOCIETY WOMEN FIGURE IN COURT TRIAL

Youth Accused of Robbing
Automobiles Is Bound Over to Grand Jury

Prominent Atlanta society women played an important part in recorder's court Monday afternoon when they appeared as witnesses against young Landrum, of Hapeville, who Mrs. Howard Van Winkle, wife of the president of the Van Winkle Truck company, had notified recorder's court of after waiting automobiles and electric of Whitehall street.

While shopping Saturday morning, Mrs. Van Winkle saw a young man take a car from an elevator belonging to the Mrs. Hattie D. Cole, 235 Peachtree street, and follow him to a department store, but when she saw him go to the car and the package she concluded he was a chauffeur sent there to exchange the car.

In the meantime Mrs. Van Winkle had learned from Mrs. Cole that her car had been robbed. Monday she was in the shopping district again, and while in a department store, saw Detective Tuggle talking with a clerk about the robbery.

She left the store and spotted Landrum, who had just taken a car containing a motorcycle from a machine belonging to Mrs. R. W. Johnson, 1297 Peachtree road. Officer Johnson was nearby, and the young man was placed under arrest. Later, detective declared, he made a complete confession.

At the trial of the youth before Judge Boyles, Mrs. Cole identified her purchases. The shirt she alleged to have been stolen from Mrs. Johnson had already been identified by her, and she did not appear in court. She was represented by Attorney Reuben B. Arnold, and sat in her touring car in front of the station on Decatur street. In the event that her evidence was needed, Landrum, declared by his father to be weak-minded, was bound over to the grand jury on a charge of larceny under bond of $500.

APPEAL TO BE MADE TO RUSH WORK ON SEWER

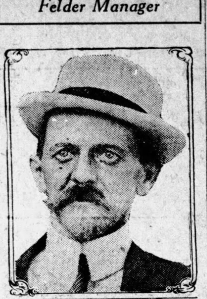

Residents of Two Wards Want
More Men to Work on
Butler Street

Members of the Fourth and Eighth wards' improvement clubs will appear at the meeting of the board of county commissioners Wednesday to appeal for a larger working force on the Butler street sewer, now in progress, now in progress.

Under a recent agreement of the board, all convicts sentenced after June 1 were to be put to work on this sewer. The citizens of the two wards declare that this has not been done.

They say that less than seventy men are now at work on the sewer, and that the force of this number is the only thing plant is idle two-thirds of the time and the entire work is much delayed.

$84,600 FIREPROOF CLUB

HOUSE, FORECAST LAKE

Athletic Club Members Accept
Plans—Work on Building to Start at Once

Members of the Atlanta Athletic club, at a meeting Monday evening, voted to accept plans for a fireproof building at Lake Lake, to be erected at a cost of $84,600, to replace the club house destroyed in March.

Two plans were submitted to the club, and the one for a building of the same structure to cost approximately $72,000, and the other for a building of the same structure to cost approximately $84,600.

Through money derived from the insurance on the burned building, assessments against the members, and subscriptions, approximately $75,000 for the new building has been raised. The members, however, voted to raise the additional $10,000 to secure a fireproof club house.

The building was burned the members of the club, and the new building will be a fireproof building of the same structure to cost approximately $84,600.

The living room of the new club house is to be constructed without upper story, and the new building will be a fireproof building of the same structure to cost approximately $84,600.

Work upon the new club house is expected to commence within a few days.

Advertising in The Journal Sells the Goods

Evidence that "Advertising in The Journal Sells the Goods"

$1,360,000.00 in Merchandise Sold in the M. & M. Advertising and Promotion Campaign. $1,010,000 in Food and Drug Products Alone Sold to Consumers

The Atlanta Journal recently concluded a joint advertising and promotion campaign to determine, in a definite and indisputable way, the actual selling power of Advertising in The Journal.

The campaign covered a period of eighteen weeks. National and local manufacturers of food and drug products and nine local retail merchants participated by purchasing a fixed amount of paid advertising space and a paid service fee toward operating expenses.

The actual evidence was the return of labels, wrappers or other evidence of purchase of these products, which were exchanged for votes. $5,000 in prizes were awarded to religious, charitable and philanthropic societies and individuals, who competed for honors.

Altho campaigns of this nature have been conducted in this city and also in other cities many times larger than Atlanta, The Journal's campaign differed somewhat from others, inasmuch as a smaller amount was offered in prizes and the territory limited to Atlanta and suburban territory. Nevertheless The Journal conducted the largest and most successful campaign to date.

That business was stimulated to an appreciable degree may be determined from some of the letters furnished by the manufacturers.

Harry I. Schlesinger, President, Schlessinger-Meyer Baking Co., 10-21-25-30 N. Peachtree St., Atlanta, Ga., May 29, 1914.

The Atlanta Journal, Atlanta, Ga. Gentlemen: Your M. & M. Campaign furnished additional evidence of the selling power of The Atlanta Journal.

We have had experience in these campaigns, and felt that M. & M. Campaign, as evidenced by the fact that we have always given our largest portion of business to it, and we don't mind telling you that we are ready to enter another campaign any time you are ready.

Yours truly, THE D. R. WILDER MFG. CO.

Frank M. Gies, President, The Cleveland Macaroni Co., 1872 Cleveland, May 29, 1914.

The Atlanta Journal, Atlanta, Ga. Gentlemen: Please count on us for our M. & M. campaign. This speaks for itself as evidence of our satisfaction with your campaign. It was most effectively productive.

It had to be. You were the right medium. Your campaign was efficiently managed. Our product—Golden Egg Macaroni—has been sold in the Atlanta market for many years. It is the best. Yours very truly, THE CLEVELAND MACARONI CO.

H. L. SINGER, President, H. L. SINGER, 24 V. P., 10-21-25-30 N. Peachtree St., Atlanta, Ga., May 29, 1914.

The Atlanta Journal, Atlanta, Ga. Gentlemen: We are glad to express our satisfaction of the results secured in the M. & M. campaign. The sale of our products was exclusive distributors for.

It was undoubtedly one of the best advertising propositions ever brought out by any paper and adds to the worth of The Journal as an advertising medium. We sold $27,500 worth of Gold Bar Fruit and Sweet Violet canned goods which went to the consumers in Atlanta, and we feel sure that the results are of a lasting nature.

The campaign was also successful in getting a thorough distribution among the retail grocers, hotels and clubs, as well as into the home of the consumer for Temple Garden Tea.

We congratulate The Journal on its enterprise and you can rest assured that you can count on me for your campaign. Yours very truly, H. L. SINGER COMPANY.

In conclusion it may not be out of place to publish letters from some of the contestants who made the sale of the products possible.

Atlanta, Ga., May 6, 1914. The Atlanta Journal, Atlanta, Ga. Gentlemen: The Young Women's Christian Association acknowledges with thanks check for $1,000 covering second prize in The Journal's M. & M. campaign.

The Journal is to be congratulated on its upright manner in which the campaign was conducted, and we wish to take this opportunity to thank The Journal and the campaign department for its genuine fairness and the kind consideration shown us.

TECH IS GREAT ASSET TO CITY, SAYS ROBERT GREGG

Member of Steel Concern Says Fund Is Really Maintenance Appropriation

That the fund being raised for Great Tech is not a donation, but a maintenance appropriation set up out of the earnings derived by Atlanta from the Georgia School of Technology, is the statement of Robert Gregg, of Atlanta Steel company, a prominent alumnus of Tech.

Lively commercial and manufacturing establishment that is making a success today sets aside from its earnings a certain amount to install new and better equipment, whereby their expenses of operation and upkeep can be materially reduced and their earnings increased, and in the same manner the people of Atlanta should provide for the improvements contemplated at Tech.

W. M. CARTER RELEASED ON A HABEAS CORPUS

Had Been Arrested on Warrant Sworn Out by Woman in Barnesville

W. M. Carter, the electrical contractor who filed suit for $2,000 damages against City Electrician R. C. Turner several weeks ago and who was arrested last week on a misdemeanor warrant sworn out by Mrs. Rosa Middlebrooks, of Barnesville, Ga., was released from custody on a writ of habeas corpus issued Monday by Judge Bell, of the superior court.

Albino Chambers, who is Carter's attorney, based his petition for the writ on the ground that the officer who came from Barnesville to arrest Carter made no effort to take him back to that place, but on the contrary put him in jail and kept him there several days until he gave bond for $200.

The writ gives Carter his liberty and relieves him of the bond.

FLORIDA MAN TO WED ATLANTA WOMAN TODAY

Numerous Friends Here to See Wedding of Pleasant A. Hope and Mrs. Wishart

Numerous friends of Pleasant A. Hope, of Jacksonville, Fla., were gathered in Atlanta Tuesday to attend his wedding to Mrs. Edna Watt Wishart, of this city.

Mr. Hope is a large real estate owner and is prominent in the politics of Florida. It was he who carried out Senator Fletcher's first campaign for the United States senate several years ago, when Mr. Fletcher defeated Governor Broward for that office.

EMPIRE STATE BANK IN HANDS OF RECEIVER

W. J. Haddock was Tuesday morning named receiver for the Empire State Bank at 19 South Broad street on the petition of W. P. Whitaker, a stockholder.

Whitaker alleged the bank's capital stock was impaired and that the bank had already determined to take no further deposits after July 1. The petition alleged the bank had violated the banking laws by lending more than 10 percent of its capitalization to the wife of one of the directors. The capital stock of the bank is $22,170 and the deposits $12,000.

BAPTIST MINISTERS AND FAMILIES ENJOY PICNIC

The Baptist ministers of Atlanta, about forty in number, with their families and friends, are spending Tuesday at a picnic at Stone Mountain.

The ministers, who left on an 8:30 clock car, had much game of baseball, played marbles and did many other things, not the least of which was consuming the quantities of good things to eat, which they carried with them in baskets.

The picnic is an annual affair with the Baptist Ministers' association.

Here Is Good News For Stomach Victims

Some very remarkable results are being obtained by treating stomach, liver and intestinal troubles with pure vegetable oils, which exert a cleansing, soothing and purifying action upon the lower bowels, removing the obstructions, the poisonous food and mucus and preventing their absorption by the blood. This done the food is allowed free passage from the stomach, fermentation ceases and the stomach troubles quickly disappear.

George H. Mayr, for twenty years a leading Chicago druggist, cured himself and many of his friends of stomach, liver and intestinal troubles of years standing by this treatment, and so successful was the remedy he devised that it has since been placed in the hands of druggists all over the country, who have sold thousands of bottles.

Though absolutely harmless, the effort of the medicine is sufficient to convince any one of its remarkable effectiveness, and within 24 hours the sufferer feels like a new person. Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy is now sold here by Jacoby Pharmacy Co.—(Adv.)

Wife of Atlanta Lawyer Is Seeking to Obtain Separation and Alimony

That Arthur Thurman, the lawyer in divorce recently on a subordination of property charge growing out of the Frank case, lived at the Ansley hotel for some three months with a woman he introduced as his wife, was testified by Manager J. P. Letton, of the Ansley hotel, Judge Bell's court Tuesday morning. The petition of Mrs. Mary J. Thurman for alimony, in connection with her divorce suit against Thurman, was being heard. Because the Ansley hotel incident occurred after the date of separation given by Mrs. Thurman in her petition, Mr. Letton's testimony was stricken on the motion of Mr. M. Smith, Mr. Thurman's attorney.

Hill, attorney for Mrs. Thurman, secured a recess of the court until 12 o'clock, and introduced evidence of local business men as witnesses in an effort to prove that Mr. Thurman's income from law and real estate is about $1,200 or $1,500 a month. The witness said they knew nothing of the details of his business, however.

Mr. Thurman was put on the stand to answer questions put to him by the court. He admitted he had held considerable property at one time. "Was it worth $100,000?" Attorney Hill asked. Mr. Thurman said he did not know. He said he has been in financial difficulties for the past eighteen months and is living now on a small income, derived from hypothecated diamonds and other property.

Mr. Thurman said after his wife filed her divorce petition he went to Elberton, where she was staying at her parents' home. He made an effort to obtain her, but she refused to return. He said he had been in Elberton and kept him in mind. He said he had been in Elberton at that time to make a full confession of the Ansley hotel matter and obtain her forgiveness by admitting he had wronged her and himself.

"Is it not true that the young woman you wife names as correspondent, Miss Genevieve Goodin, who was at the Ansley with you, is now in your office?" Mr. Hill demanded.

"She's not there now," the lawyer answered.

"I mean she works there," Mr. Hill persisted.

"Yes, I am employed there," Mr. Thurman admitted.

WITNESSES FOR STAND. Attorney Smith sought to show that Mrs. Thurman needs no alimony because she is well cared for now by her parents. E. A. Canon, her father, was put on the stand. He admitted he owns a large farm near Elberton.

"How much is it worth?" Mr. Smith demanded.

"I turn it in for taxation at $10 an acre," Mr. Canon replied.

"About $50 or $55 an acre."

The principal evidence by Thurman was an agreement signed in August, 1912, by Mrs. Thurman, in which she waived any claim for alimony. Judge Bell ruled this out of evidence because it showed no consideration in exchange for the waiver. Later Thurman testified he gave her two diamond rings worth about $1,250, which she was wearing at the time of the hearing.

Judge Bell signed an order giving Mrs. Thurman $10 a month temporary alimony and $40 attorney's fees.

DOES MARRIAGE PREVENT WHITE SLAVE PREVENT? That marriage of defendants doesn't even them from the penalty for white slave act, is the interpretation offered by L. J. Bailey, special agent of the department of justice.

This interpretation was made in connection with the case of a couple arrested by the police at the Aragon hotel Saturday night. The woman gave her name as Mrs. B. M. Anglin, she and her husband, David Solomon, whose dispute with the couple led to the arrest of the three, were Monday bound over by Recorder Trowley.

The woman claims she was married, and Mr. Bailey is investigating this claim and also whether the white slave act was violated. The couple claim that Mrs. W. W. as their home. Mr. Bailey says that even if their marriage is proved, it would not, in his opinion, make them exempt from the law provided they were shown to have violated it.

WAR ON RATS PLANNED TO STOP BUBONIC PLAGUE

New Orleans Will Employ Every Expedient to Prevent Spread of Dreaded Malady

(By Associated Press.) NEW ORLEANS, June 30.—State and city health authorities were held here early today preparatory to the inauguration of the first wholesale campaign for the extermination of rats, the carriers of the bubonic plague, within the history of the south. The campaign is the direct result of the discovery of two cases of the disease here, resulting in the death of one man and the isolation of the other. The health officers of the industrial home of the Volunteers of America, one of whom is also suffering from the dreaded malady. With the Volunteers of America home as the nucleus of a zone extending four blocks in every direction, the plan was for the extermination of the plague barrier around the entire area and for the destruction of the rats. Other barriers will be erected as the deadly virus progresses toward the city. The first onslaught is made every effort within the infected area will have been destroyed. Fumes and traps will be used in the work of extermination, and the escape of a single rat and every expedient of scientific rat killing will be used to prevent a spread of the infection to other parts of the city.

Health authorities stated today they were well pleased with the situation and believed there was no cause for alarm. A spread of the plague was not expected. No further cases had developed.

Lawyer in Miss Morse's Suit Tells How Steamship Concern Was Formed

(By Associated Press.) NEW YORK, June 30.—In the suit of Miss Jennie R. Morse, a sister of Charles Morse, for the appointment of a receiver for the Metropolitan Steamship Company, which was a failed enterprise controlled, Everly M. Davis, a lawyer, told the federal court today that the New Haven railroad to which a majority of the Metropolitan Steamship Company, a subsidiary of the New Haven railroad to which a majority of the Metropolitan Steamship Company, was transferred, was formed in his office in 1908. He said that the company was formed in his office in 1908, and that he was an incorporator, and that George D. McIntire was the president. Miss Liebowitz, a stenographer, was a treasurer. Robert E. Fueschel, a bookkeeper, of the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, was a director. The company was the National City Bank, identified a check of $1,400,000, dated March 4, 1910, and other checks for similar amounts drawn by the Farmers' company on the city bank to the credit of Edward T. Canfield, treasurer of the Billard company and deposited in the National bank of Commerce. It has been alleged these checks figured in the transaction which enabled the Billard company, an interstate company, to take over the Metropolitan property to the New Haven, including its steamers Yale and Harvard, the company of which, it is claimed, the New Haven railroad freed.

Advertising the Truth and Placing Right Merchandise Behind It

We try to regulate all our stocks with scrupulous mathematical exactness, but our aim frequently goes wide of the mark. No odds how carefully we analyze supply and demand, in relation to the store and its public, the result is more than likely to be lopsided. Merchandise that we thought would move rapidly may show a tendency to lag, and merchandise that inspired pessimism may bound out. Therefore, some departments are fat and congested; others are lean and exhausted.

July.

The best time of all the year to straighten out the crooked lines, to secure balance and proper adjustment, to sift and rearrange. The duldest imagination realizes in a flash the potentiality of present conditions.

Stocks excessively clogged—stocks that are abundant and redundant must be depleted—and

Other stocks that have been strained and drained, leaving remainders, residuums, dribbles, broken miscellanies and incomplete sediments give verge and scope to this important trade event.

The whole store has been ransacked for stubbles and surpluses which will be offered at prices that should clean them out quickly.

It is to be a Serial Sale planned with system and forethought.

The items quoted in this advertisement are only a small fraction of the aggregate. The ones that will be given to the types tomorrow and the days to follow, should grip your economic impulse with a compelling power.

Who loses the money that represents the difference between the real value of the goods and the prices asked?

Alert and thrifty women will Save it—but who loses it? We do, but we don't.

In spite of the fact that we will distribute a large volume of goods at much less than cost, including in actual losses, still in an ideal and theoretical sense we do not regard them as sacrifices.

This weeding and cleaning out process is our own method of perfecting and standardizing stock organization, and promoting a healthy condition in every department.

We resolutely reject the popular notion that the financial return of a sale is the measure of its success.

"Large profits—great success; scant profits—small success." That's not Our idea at all. If it were, then mere cunning, shrewdness and the bold trading instinct would control success.

We have a broader conception of business than mere money-making.

Service to the Community is the Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Company idea of business success—and the income derived from the service is simply an essential condition of success.

Of course, our views are exceptional, but we do believe that they will eventually be accepted by nearly all the practical business men who today charge us with being "theorists."

The July Sale will supply additional proof that we are right.

A Day of Rare Waist Values

Come expecting unusual values even for this waist store that has launched such remarkable sales this season.

$1.50 White China Silk Waists $1.00

The silk is the soft quality that women know and like best, delightfully cool—kimono sleeves, half length, flat and sailor collars, hemstitched turn-back cuffs.

600 New White Waists at $1.00

New!

There are eight styles, four of them are $1.50 values. Four styles in voiles, four in crisp organdies. Features are cluster tucks, embroidered and hemstitched ruffles, kimono and mandarin sleeves. We doubt if $1.00 ever bought such fresh attractive waists. All sizes.

$5 and $6 Net and Lace Waists $2.19

Net and lace waists in shadow effects made over nets and chiffons, bits of color on collar of some and in the chiffon and voile vestees.

$5.00 and $5.75 Silk Waists $3.75

Black china, crepe de chine, chiffon and lace and dull finished taffeta tailored waists. High and low neck styles, kimono and set-in sleeves, full and three-quarter length. All black or with a white batiste collar and vestee.

Thirty-Eight Woolen Suits

Thirteen Were $18.75 to $21.75 Now $ 5.75

Eleven Were $25.00 to $35.00 Now $ 7.50

Fourteen Were $35.00 to $55.00 Now $12.50

Who will get them? The racks should be emptied early in the morning. They are suits we brought out late in the spring.

Those now $5.75 are chiefly navy and black serges and novelty weaves. Those now $7.50 are serges and Gabardines in navy and black. Those now $12.50 are serges, Gabardines and silks in navy, Copenhagen and black.

Cotton Dresses at Half

They were $2.00, $2.25, $2.50, $3.00, $3.50 to $45.00.

They are $1.00, $1.125, $1.25, $1.675 to $22.50.

The word cotton falls short of telling what such dresses are when some are as light as the rose's petals, and others are flaked crepes, and others the stubby rations combined with pussy willow taffetas.

One style after another, big racks crowded with them, all fashioned as you would have the dress you want for afternoon wear, or for traveling or for trips to town. Choose from white, tan, peach, green, rose and tango.

Samples of French Lingerie At Prices Very Near Half

An occasion that stands out pre-eminently in Atlanta merchandising.

We have secured from one of the leading importers of French lingerie his sample line. And you shall own these exquisite bits of batiste and laces and hand embroidery at prices that approximate half their real value.

Petticoats, Gowns, Chemises, Corset Covers and Drawers

Made and embroidered as only the French can.

Every garment is an individual piece, and yet sets may be made up since there are gowns and petticoats and other pieces of the same design of trimming.

What a wonderful opportunity for the "hope" boxes.

The Petticoats

At $15.00 is a $35.00 Petticoat that is a mass of French embroidery and princess lace.

At $10.95 is a $25.00 Petticoat with a new embroidery design on the front panel and in the flounce.

At $12.75 are $25.00 Petticoats for her who dances, draped styles that, open front, trimmed with real Valenciennes laces and eyelet and blind embroidery.

At $8.50 are $18.50 Petticoats of similar design.

At $7.50 are $15.00 Petticoats with the front panels embroidered in the prettiest designs; other petticoats laundered and unlaundered at $2.98 to $5.00 worth approximately a half more.

The Gowns

We doubt if such wonderfully elaborate, at the same time daintily conceived, styles were ever shown in Atlanta.

At $19.75 is a $35.00 Gown trimmed with Venetian lace and hand embroidery.

At $16.50 is a $32.50 Gown trimmed with princess lace and hand embroidery of rare beauty.

At $12.50 are $25.00 Gowns, Empire style, yoke hand embroidered both back and front.

GEORGIA AND HER POLITICS

INVESTMENT LAW WANTED BY NIXON

J. A. Nixon, editor of the Orange Judd Southern Farmer, has written a letter to Governor Slaton, urging him to recommend to the legislature the enactment of a law to protect the public in its dealings with bond and investment companies. In part Mr. Nixon's letter to the governor follows:

"An increasing number of concerns are going into the business of issuing, negotiating or selling bonds, certificates, amortization agreements or other obligations on the partial payment or installment plan. It is believed that some people are induced to go into these schemes in the expectation of receiving a loan of $500 to $1,000 after paying in $4 or $6 monthly dues for six consecutive months. Failing to obtain the loan, the further payment of dues, in which case some or all of the amount already paid in is sacrificed, forfeited or lapsed. In such case the victim feels that he has been imposed upon. If not swindled outright.

"Concerns of this type usually are careful to avoid any technical violation of state or federal banking laws, or statutes for the protection of depositors. Thus they escape supervision by the commissioner of banks in the respective states. Owing partly to the absence of such supervision, one of these concerns, the so-called Commonwealth Securities Loan company, is now in the hands of a receiver appointed by the federal court at Dallas, Tex. Among its 2,000 creditors, more or less, there are probably quite a number from Georgia. It is known that several concerns are doing business in Georgia along the lines above referred to."

FELDER DEBATES SPEECH AT ELLENVILLE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) ELLENVILLE, Ga., June 30.—Thomas F. Felder, of Macon, candidate for United States senator, spoke in the court house at this place yesterday afternoon to an audience composed of citizens of Sumter, Marion and Senley counties.

Mr. Felder declared himself in favor of a change in the pension laws now upon the statute books of this state, which he would, if elected to the United States senate, introduce a bill which would, if passed, bring such a change. He also spoke against federal judges holding office during life or good behavior. He said he thought it best, that should the federal judges wish to hold longer than eight or ten years, they should be re-elected or appointed as the case might be.

He declared himself in favor of an appropriation by the United States government for public roads and a system of rural or agricultural credit.

He most emphatically decried the appointment of negroes to any office.

After spending about two hours in Ellenville, speaking and shaking hands Mr. Felder left for Americus.

Now that the committee has met and adopted the rules for the primary, which will be held August 19, the plurality plan prevailing, some definite announcement is expected from Congressman Bartlett as soon as he is able to be out.

FELDER'S ITINERARY FOR WEEK ANNOUNCED

Emmett Hauser, the well known Fort Valley newspaper man, who is in charge of the Atlanta headquarters of Thomas F. Felder, candidate for the United States senate, announces Mr. Felder's itinerary for the week as follows: "Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock Mr. Felder addressed the voters of Marion county at Buena Vista. Tuesday afternoon, Wednesday and Thursday he will travel by auto through Marion, Stewart, Webster and Chattahoochee counties making the acquaintance of as many of the voters as possible. "Friday, in an auto, he will visit the different points in Campbell county, and will close this week's campaign by an address to the voters in Douglasville."

BUTTS COUNTY LAYS CLAIM TO STATES FIRST SLATON CLUB

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) JACKSON, Ga., June 29.—Though it is reported that Jackson county organized the first Slaton club in the state, Butts county really organized the first club of that kind, the meeting having been held in Jackson on June 4.

The officers of the club include Dr. A. P. White, president; S. H. May, A. H. Ogilvie, Joseph Jolly, S. M. Pope, J. M. Matt McMichael and J. W. Greer, vice presidents; D. Jones, secretary. The club is enrolling new members daily.

MANY ATTEND FUNERAL OF VENEZUELAN MINISTER

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Last tributes of respect to the memory of the late Dr. Pedro Escudé Rodas, minister of Venezuela, were paid by official Washington today. President Wilson, members of his cabinet, the supreme court, the diplomatic corps, members of the congressional foreign relations committees and other officials were to attend funeral services at St. Matthew's church, after which the body, escorted by troops, was to be placed aboard the Dolphin and taken to Hampton Roads. There it was to be transferred to the battleship Kansas and conveyed to La Guaira, Venezuela. The body was to be accompanied to Hampton Roads by these members of the governing board of the Pan-American union: Minister Calvo, of Costa Rica; Pezet, of Peru, and Cordova, of Ecuador.

The Governor's "Mansion."

It is only in imagination or charity that one can speak of the ramshackle old building at the southwest corner of Cain and Peachtree streets as the Governor's "mansion." Patched and crippled, it crouches there in the midst of a business district like an ugly beggar, asking alms of the State. The Legislature should lose no time in removing this eyesore, releasing for profitable development the land it encumbers and providing at some suitable location a residence befitting the dignity of the Governor's office.

This is not only a matter of pride and good taste but of serious importance from a business standpoint. The present site of the "mansion" is far too valuable for commercial purposes to be used as it now is. Years ago this part of Peachtree street was given over to business. Its realty values have risen from those of a home section to those of a city center. The State can ill afford to let such property lie idle, when it could be converted into a substantial fortune or be made to yield a handsome revenue.

Just what disposition should be made of this lot, only careful inquiry can determine. Certainly, however, it could be sold or leased on profitable terms, and with a small fraction of the proceeds an appropriate site for a Governor's mansion could be secured. Georgia is too great a State to require its chief executive to live in a dilapidated house on a spot wholly unsuited to residence purposes.

Senator J. N. Watts, chairman of the public property committee, introduced at the last session of the Legislature a resolution providing for a commission to deal with this important matter. Unfortunately, the resolution was lost by the narrow margin. It is expected, however, that the question will be urged again this summer, and it is to be hoped that some businesslike method of procedure will be promptly adopted.

Dayton's New Government.

Among the more recent and notable recruits to a business, as distinguished from a political, system of city government is Dayton, Ohio. Since January the first Dayton's municipal affairs have been administered by a city-manager and a board of five commissioners, each charged with particular duties and all directly accountable to the public. Commenting upon the results of this plan, the Review of Reviews declares:

"The advantages of unifying authority and responsibility are manifesting themselves through prompt, decisive and direct action—a quality usually conspicuously absent in public affairs. A go-and-he-goeth spirit has superseded the 'checks and balances' and diluted initiative of a more complicated government. There no longer exists a government in which the several departments work as independent units in the prosecution of their duties. On each afternoon at 4 o'clock the departmental heads meet with the manager to discuss problems of common interest and minor activities which call for co-operation—activities which formerly would not have been undertaken. By rapidly adopting the efficiency system of great private corporations, Dayton aims to make its government a model in the administration of public business. In the management of its finances, it is putting into operation the latest methods of fiscal control. The budget of 1914 is based upon a clearly defined financial program supported by facts, uniformly classified according to the character of the expenditures."

Thus far the city-manager plan seems to have worked admirably in Dayton. Certain it is that the principle back of this system is coming into wider and wider adoption. Within recent years some three hundred cities in thirty-eight States have abandoned the old councilmanic form of government for a system in which administrative duties are centralized and responsibility is made definite. These systems differ widely in matters of detail but they are all alike in that they substitute businesslike methods for political methods and produce satisfactory business results.

Georgia's Growing Problem

Of Reckless Divorce.

The divorce problem in Georgia, as in the United States generally, is one of grave and ever-increasing concern. Whether they are viewed coldly from the standpoint of social science or earnestly from the standpoint of social reform, present conditions and tendencies in this regard are alarming.

According to the federal census of 1910, the divorced persons in this country numbered more than one hundred and fifty thousand men and more than one hundred and eighty-five thousand women—three percent of the total male population, and four percent of the total female population.

According to the census of 1900, the annual average of divorces for a five-year period in the United States was seventy-three per one hundred thousand of the population. The significance of that figure becomes apparent when it is noted that Austria's average during the same period was only one per hundred thousand, the average in England and Wales only two, in Italy only three, and in France twenty-three, of less than a third than that of the United States. With the one exception of Japan, the United States has a higher divorce record than any country in the world.

This condition obtains to a marked degree in Georgia. The number of divorces in this State increased from ten per hundred thousand of the population in 1870 to twenty-six per hundred thousand in 1890, and since then the increase has been untiring and rapid. There are, to be sure, certain aspects of this problem with which the law cannot effectively deal, just as in all human affairs there are like which the only slow working of internal moral law can remedy. But that is no reason why the State should not avail itself of such means as are at its command to check this growing evil.

Senator W. D. McNeill, of the Twenty-second district, has introduced a bill designed to meet this pressing requirement. With the details of the measure we are not familiar, but its purpose and spirit are admirable, and as chairman of the General Judiciary committee, Senator McNeill has doubtless given skilled attention to the particular terms of his bill.

It is earnestly to be hoped that the Legislature will deal promptly and favorably with this measure. The issues involved are of tremendous import to the social welfare of the State. If the bases of society are to remain sound and secure, the destructive power of divorce must be checked.

We must sow good seeds today to reap happiness tomorrow.

Once the cold wave does come, it is going to limit some powers of conversation.

A Legislative Reference

Bureau for Georgia.

The commission created last year to investigate legislative reference work as conducted in other States, with a view to providing similar service for Georgia, has formulated a bill which the General Assembly should gladly approve.

This measure calls for the establishment, in connection with the State library, of a Legislative Reference Department, the object of which shall be to gather and make available such information as will aid the members of the Legislature and the several State departments in the discharge of their duties, and to serve such other citizens as may desire to consult the same. It is provided further that the department shall "collect, arrange, classify and index books, pamphlets and other material relating to legislation, shall prepare abstracts of laws of other States and countries, and shall make such indexes of the legislative and administrative records of this State, both current and past, as will be of assistance and reference thereto and easy access."

Such a department will be of invaluable aid to the members of the General Assembly, to State officials and to the public. It will go far toward making legislation more scientific, more simple and expeditious. There is a large field of legislative problems in which all the States are commonly interested, in which each can profit by the others' experience.

In the year 1913, for instance, more than a thousand bills pertaining to public health, were introduced in the Legislatures of the various States. Many of those bills represented serious thought and investigation; many, no doubt, were crude and ineffectual. But the State that is equipped with a legislative reference bureau has sure and easy access to all such records, so that it can profit by the errors as well as the advantages of other States.

It is to be hoped that such a bureau will be established in connection with Georgia's State library.

THE HATE-CREATURE

BY DR. FRANK CRANE.
(Copyright, 1914, by Frank Crane.)

If there were some sort of patent condenser by which all the impotent hate in the world could be gathered into one lump, what a stink it would give for men and angels!

A Roman emperor expressed a fancy to have all the necks in Rome in one neck, that he might lay it off; and he had a man made who was to be the neck. The flies in creation were one fly, that he might smother it to death; but the vision of the agglomeration of all the scattered hate-words seems to be most striking.

Think how thick and smothered the air would be with many hate-driven into clenched palms, and how many a sentence is begun, "I'd like to just"—and then stops short!

Poor humanity hates for any reason, we hate because we are insulted, because we are failed and we win, because he is of a different race or set or party, because he loves the woman we love, because he is cruel, unjust, or low, or because he is good and honest and nobler than we. Any cause will do.

And when we take hate and turn it over, examining it carefully, we discern that it is only the heat of our wounded vanity.

In the Garden of Eden was a serpent who spoiled the lives of the first pair of humans, they tell us. This world would be an Eden if it were not for the hate-snake that ever and ever crawls among us.

We should all work together in constructive joy. We should be glad upon meeting another human being, happiness would play like a flame above humanity, if there were no hate.

It is the hate-serpent that makes wars. It is the hate-serpent that changes religion from an influence that makes men love and help to an influence that makes them fight and kill.

In the Bulgarians I read of the fight between Bulgaria and Serbia. The Bulgarians were said to have massacred every living thing in Serbia and surrounding villages, the Serbs did the same to the Bulgarians.

The twentieth century and the hate-serpent divide families, parts love, estrange children.

There are no crimes of love; all crimes are of hate. A man could find himself of even higher plane at once from where he could see how beautiful the world is, how great and how good.

Love is the one thing that is the same one: 'Love! Love all people! Love your friends! Love your enemies! Love the criminals!'

Love and women of the world, love is your only power. It is a lover's power. Your love-power is your happiness-power.

Love is the only power that you let into your lives is so much poison to you and to the earth.

Valuable Report By the State

Geological Department

The geological department of Georgia has just issued a valuable report on the asbestos, talc and soapstone deposits of this state. This report, Bulletin No. 79, which was prepared by Oliver B. Hopkins, as Georgia's geologist, is a volume of nearly 400 pages, well illustrated with half-tone cuts and maps.

The report is divided into three parts. The first part deals with the general geology of the crystalline rocks of Georgia and describes in considerable detail the basic rock rocks, together with their alterations, especially in regard to the origin of asbestos, talc, or soapstone.

The second part of the report deals with asbestos, one of the most unique of all minerals. Asbestos has been described as a "physical paradox, a mineralogical vegetable, a connecting link between the mineral and the vegetable kingdoms in the way of its structure and of the characteristics of both, while being different from either." Although it may yield fibers different from silk in luster and fineness and may be woven as well as felt, it is remarkable among nature's products in its resistance to both heat and acids.

There are two kinds of asbestos, namely, amphibole asbestos and serpentine, or chrysotile, asbestos. The former type is the most abundant in Georgia and has been extensively mined at Ball Mountain, in White and Howard counties, for nearly twenty years. The localities referred to in one of the chief sources of domestic supply of asbestos in this country. The report not only describes all of the asbestos deposits in Georgia, but also describes briefly all of the deposits in North America. It furthermore, includes a description of the different phases of the asbestos industry, including a comprehensive account of its occurrence, mining, milling, origin, production, and uses.

The third part treats of the talc and soapstone deposits of Georgia in the same manner that the asbestos deposits are treated in the previous part. The distinction between talc and soapstone is one of purity; soapstone is impure talc. The difference in purity is due to the fact that the use of the two materials. Talc is used largely for making pencils for talc, metal workers and school use. It is also talc and talc is used in the manufacture of talc and soapstone. On the other hand, it is used largely in making talc for chemical laboratories, sinks, griddles, etc.

The physical properties on which the use of talc and soapstone depends are their softness and their ease with which they may be worked into any desired form, stability in regard to heat and acids, and their low conductivity and high absorption of heat and electricity, and in some cases its whiteness, fibrous structure.

North Carolina and Georgia produce the entire output in the United States of high grade talc for pencils and soapstone for the manufacture of as much as $600 per ton when ready for the market. Copies of the report here described may be obtained from W. McCallie, state geologist, on payment of the postage, 21 cents.

Quips and Quiddities

The hungry tramp told his tale. It touched the kind heart of the lady of the house. He ate the food she gave and thanked her for her kindness.

"And how," said she, sympathetically, "did the hand laundry you were managing come to fall on your face?"

He glanced round, it might be as if he suspected the dog were within call. Then passing out and closing the gate, he said: "She quit and went home to her master."

THE DIARY OF OUR OWN SAMUEL PEPPY.
June 24.—Up, having slept but little all the night, went to the office. The day was very hot and the work was very hard. Each time it would start or stop the suddenness of it would throw me from my berth. To the college at night, then our class did a great deal of work in the old days, but I seemed that I did look far older, and I was glad that I did appear just as in my freshman days. Health Fighters in Mexico

By Frederic J. Haskin

Modern organizations are close organizations. Every one comes in and meets. It is not done in the sphere of all the others. Thus the disease is passed when the men who do the shooting are in the line. In fact, the parts of the army are just as much composed of the so-called line forces. In these days of artillery, infantry, and cavalry, the medical, commissary and quartermaster corps.

No more important department exists in the army than the medical corps. This simple fact has been recognized with increasing certainty. The country since the blunders and disasters of the Spanish-American war, when our record of sickness and death from disease was worse, in ratio, than the loss of the French and Russian forces lost three times as many men from disease as they did in actual fighting.

The United States has a brigade in the field in Mexico under Brigadier General Frederick Park. Conditions approximating actual warfare, everything is done to prevent disease. The brigade also has a 26,000 Mexican inhabitants are of very little assistance in the prevention of disease. The army is very simple in its principles of hygiene and sanitation. And yet, nothing has been heard about general sickness since the epidemic, there has been none. Thus far, even in the most dysentery of the army, there has been no trouble. The reason is that Uncle Sam's army health fighters are on the job.

How different from the Spanish-American War. Epidemic disease, the volunteer camps, such as Tampa and others, long before our boys were sent to get to the front. Typhoid fever raged both here and Cuba. Of the one scourge alone, there were 26,000 cases, with 1,000 deaths. Last year our soldiers of 90,000 men had two cases of typhoid among the 100,000 men of these armies. The army is very simple in its principles of hygiene and sanitation. Lookouts Play Hob With The Crackers In a Double Bill; Third Game Today

Tennis Stars in State Tourney

First Matches Were Played at Piedmont Driving Club Monday—Victor Smith Sprung Surprise

Nine matches in the first round of the state tennis tournament being held on the courts of the Piedmont Driving Club were completed Monday afternoon, some very good matches being played during the afternoon. Several surprises were sprung during the day, the biggest of which was the defeat of the best player in the city, Victor Smith, who while not a novice at the game, is still young at heart. The match in two straight sets, 6-2 and 6-2. Victor Smith is a younger brother of Charles Smith, who won the tournament last year.

Match play will be held every afternoon during the week, and the matches will be played off in regular order. Drawings in the second round have been held, and the match play in this event will begin this afternoon. The result of the matches played Monday afternoon and the card for play today is as follows:

University of Tennessee is Dissatisfied With The New One-Year Rule

DIANA DILLPICKLES IN "AN AWFUL DISCOURTESY"

A 4-REEL "SCREECHER" FILM

THE SPORTLIGHT BY GRANTLAND RICE

OLD-TIME FELLOW.
"Old-time fellow"—they called him so. And I'll tell you why, for they didn't know—Or believe that the name had come to him. From his thin, gray hair or his eyes now dim; They called him so because in the face Of the mad, wild crowd through the market place, In the bitter battle for name and fame, He stood aside with a look of shame.

Because he believed, in his simple guile, There were others things in life worth while Than the wealth and station and flashy fame Of those about him who played the game. Than the sash and blow of friend from friend To gain the way or attain the end; Than the trickery and the savage greed Which stood for the age and the nation's creed.

"Old-time fellow"—they called him so. Whose place was back in the Long Ago.

For that matters, a wallop to the crest of the jawbone is merely "psychological." If you have that much imagination. But only the favored few, under such circumstances, can kid themselves into the belief that it is only the ticking of a feather and continue as if nothing else had occurred.

OFF COURSE.
America, of course, is still the land of true democracy. President Wilson commits a grave breach of golfing etiquette by driving into a player on a hole.

Said player, after discovering that it was the president, apologizes profusely for having unlimbered a few pointed truths. Just wherein is a president on a golf course any different from any one else—except in the possession of a game that is slightly more to the Joe Bush or the Gus Hill?

"Why doesn't some one," writes George P. W., "go out and get Chance some ball players? We'll be the goat. Why?"

In the last two weeks the Giants and Athletics have about broken even, but if you're out in front it's easy enough to win a race walking on one bum leg if there is no one else coming on.

The two clubs that ought to be ashamed of themselves are Pirates and Red Sox. When two clubs with their material are down around the edge of the second division there is a chance for one of two answers:

Either a bad fault in leadership or a sad lack of fighting quality that is born of indifference.

One of the main troubles of baseball is that both club owners and players figure they are in control of the game; that the game belongs to them. Whereas it belongs to neither in comparison to the claim of the fan. When baseball no longer belongs to the fan there won't be any baseball left to belong to any one.

We have a hunch that Washington is on the verge of starting something now that will be worth watching.

An admirer of Herzog's dedicates this from Kipling to the Red leader:

I didn't begin with the asking,
I took my job and I stuck;
And I took the chance they wouldn't,
And now they are calling it Luck.

LOOKING FORWARD.
(Year—1924.)

(Presidents Ban Johnson, John K. Tener and James Gilmore in conference.)

"We'll jump this contract jumping if we have to take each case through every court in the land."

Gilmore: "I'm with you, Ban. These contract jumpers are a lot of crooked and inoperative, and no reputable league should have anything to do with them. I wouldn't take one of them back in my circuit if he was the greatest player that ever lived."

Statement for the press (issued by Big Three): "The American, National and Federal leagues, representing organized baseball, have decided to make war on the Columbia league and to get out an injunction against each player that jumps his contract."

"You can say for me," said President Gilmore, "that the Columbia league is a bush circuit in every way and is not worthy the support of the fans. Also that the game will not stand a fourth major league."

(Year—1926.)
Presidents of the National, American, Federal and Columbia leagues, representing organized baseball, met here today for the purpose of making war on the United States league, the latest outlaw circuit to enter the fold. Mr. Jackson, president of the Columbia league, was especially bitter, etc.

How about municipal ownership of baseball franchises?

"England picks Freddie Welsh to beat Willie Ritchie." There was a time when we might have greeted this statement with an uproarious guffaw. But as things happen to be, we'll leave it alone and wait a bit. He suffers best whose guffaw isn't checked by an unexpected walk on the rest of the chin.

Marsans Urged To Join Reds

ST. LOUIS, June 30.—A letter from August Hermann, president of the national baseball commission, urging American Nationals to return to the Cincinnati Nationals was received at the headquarters of the St. Louis Federal league club last night. Marsans deposed organized baseball organized weeks ago, but after a few days was prevented from playing with the local team. The federal court injunctions.

The letter says:

"This letter is written for the purpose of again advising you that the Cincinnati Exhibition company is ready and willing, at all times to observe and carry out in good faith all the terms and conditions of its contract with you and I urge you to return to the team. We have no player to fill your place on the team and always is no opportunity

Tenn. Opposes One-Year Rule

Knoxville Institution Objects to Clause With Reference to Enrollment of 400 Students.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., June 29.—"We are sitting tight," stated Dr. H. E. Buchanan, chairman of the Tennessee Athletic council, here yesterday afternoon, when asked as to Tennessee's attitude with reference to the present flurry in the S. I. A. A.

"No, I hardly think Tennessee will be represented at the meeting in Atlanta Wednesday," Dr. Buchanan continued, "because we have been notified that this meeting was not authorized by the athletic authorities of the University of Georgia, but was called by a member of the athletic council of that institution."

The University of Tennessee is in favor of a one-year rule, to apply to all colleges, but we believe the one-year rule as it now stands is discriminatory, and that is the reason I voted against it at the Jacksonville meeting. Unless the rules of the S. I. A. A. are modified to such an extent that we can play Vanderbilt in case that college sticks by its determination to leave the S. I. A. A. it is not unlikely that Tennessee will play Vanderbilt anyhow, despite consequences."

Dr. Buchanan is in favor of a new athletic association with, or without the one-year rule, so that said rule applied to all colleges alike. He will be perfectly satisfied with the S. I. A. A. provided present 400-limit one-year rule is eliminated.

In other words, the Tennessee athletic authorities do not intend to take any action with reference to the present muddle until they see "whether the ship is drifting."

Yale having beaten Harvard calmly appropriate the rowing championship, which is a good joke—outside of New Haven.

The principal officers of California are punners, raisins, oranges and tennis players.

see will play Vanderbilt anyhow, despite consequences."

Racquet Stars Play for Title

ATLANTA, Ga., June 30.—After a great exhibition of tennis, the South Atlantic States championship is still tied between J. K. Orr and W. E. Carter, of Atlanta, against the Waring brothers, of Columbia.

It was agreed to decide the championship tied here a week ago by the best two out of three sets. In the first set Carter and Orr won, 6-4, ever game going to deuce. In the second set, the Waring won, 7-5. In the third set, each team at one time had the advantage, but the set ended 12-12.

It was decided to play one set today to decide the championship.

Every day has his day, but in the red league every player has his day in every city in the circuit.
